PARTNERSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

PACKAGES

The Estonian Society of Ophthalmology (EOS) in cooperation with Asia Pacific Ophthalmic Trauma Society (APOTS) are pleased to invite companies and industry partners to support the ESTONIAN OPHTHALMIC TRAUMA SYMPOSIUM 2027, taking place in Tallinn on 21–22 January 2027.

The programme will bring together internationally recognised ophthalmologists and medical experts alongside colleagues and participants from Estonia, the Baltic and Nordic countries, and further afield.

Through expert lectures, clinical discussions and the exchange of practical experience, the symposium will provide a platform for sharing knowledge on the management of complex ophthalmic trauma and for strengthening professional cooperation across borders.

The international format also creates a valuable environment for dialogue between clinicians, medical experts and industry partners. Cooperation with our partners plays an important role in supporting continuing professional education and in introducing developments in ophthalmic diagnostics, treatment, surgical techniques, technology and patient care.

We warmly invite our industry partners to join us in Tallinn and become part of the ESTONIAN OPHTHALMIC TRAUMA SYMPOSIUM 2027!

Yours Sincerely,

Dr Kadi Palumaa

President of the Estonian Society of Ophthalmology

BENEFITS

An International Professional Audience

Meet ophthalmologists and other eye-care professionals from Estonia, the Baltic and Nordic countries, and beyond in a focused professional environment.

Expertise and Professional Exchange

The symposium brings together internationally recognised experts and practising clinicians for the exchange of knowledge, clinical experience and perspectives in ophthalmic trauma.

Direct Interaction

The exhibition area provides an opportunity to present relevant products, technologies and services and to discuss their practical application directly with healthcare professionals.

Professional Relationships

The symposium offers opportunities for both formal and informal interaction, supporting existing professional relationships and creating new connections within the regional and international ophthalmology community.

Visibility Throughout the Event

Supporters are recognised through the symposium website and selected event communications, providing visibility before and during the meeting.

Support for Continuing Education

By becoming a partner of the ESTONIAN OPHTHALMIC TRAUMA SYMPOSIUM 2027, your organisation contributes to continuing professional development, international knowledge exchange and cooperation within ophthalmology.
